

Traditional Academic Essays in Three Parts

Essay Writing

An essay is a formal piece of writing that systematically analyses and evaluates a topic or issue. Essay writing is your opportunity to show how well you can apply what you've learned.

It is vital to create a plan before you start writing your essay. A good plan will provide the foundations for a structured and coherent essay. Before starting, write out a bullet point list of the main points and then organise them into a logical order.

Checklist:

- Introduction
- Development
- Conclusion

Begin with a strong introduction that clearly outlines your overall point of view.

Support all of your points and ideas with well-selected examples.

Use embedded quotes to evidence your points. Try to ensure the quotes flow within your writing.

Use subject terminology where appropriate to demonstrate understanding.

Use discourse markers and conjunctions to connect, organise and manage your sentences and paragraphs.

Consider counter-arguments.

Conclude with strong personal response and a quotation that sums up your argument.

Who is to blame for the death of Eva Smith in 'An Inspector Calls'?

Each character in J.B. Priestley's 'An Inspector Calls' can be blamed for the death of Eva Smith. However, Mr Birling should be given the most blame because of his derogatory attitude to people from the working classes...

Mr Birling is to blame as he cannot accept the responsibility that people have to help others: 'a man has to make his own way'. He is proud of his own success and believes other people, such as Eva, should cope without his help. He believes everyone should follow the same path as him without seeing the obstacles they face. He suffers from pride and ignorance. Believing that he was right to dismiss Eva Smith for asking for a small pay rise...

Birling tells Eva to 'keep out of this' as he cannot accept that other people can change his opinion, continuing to talk about himself. Birling even states that he 'can't accept any responsibility' because of his stubborn nature. Birling ignores the fact that from the moment Eva Smith had to leave his employment, he began to unravel.

Birling uses language that accentuates his selfish and ignorant nature: 'If you don't approve of a part of the 15 people they'd soon be asking for the card'. He sees a request for a small pay rise as a threat to 'the earth'. This metaphor reveals Birling's fear of losing control, and his need to secure his wealth while others struggle. His derogative use of the pronoun 'these' and impersonal noun 'people' implies that he sees the working classes as a collective group which he distances by a lack of a name.

While Mrs Birling rejects Eva Smith's plea for help, she is naturally distanced from Eva by her class. Mr Birling should be more sympathetic as his higher status was strengthened by marriage to a woman of higher class. Furthermore, he still seeks the approval of those who can give him higher status: 'I was almost certain of a knighthood.' He should have helped Eva Smith in the same way in which he expects to be helped by others.

Mr Birling stubbornly avoids guilt by sheltering himself from the reality of those less privileged. Near the end of the play, he brushes off one girl's death by saying it was all a joke. He says to Sheila: 'You'll have a good laugh over it yet!' Mr Birling deserves the most blame and least sympathy as he gives no sympathy to others.

Remember to use subject terminology where appropriate to demonstrate understanding. This should be a new paragraph for each new point.

Once you have finished your essay, remember to check your spelling, punctuation and that all information included is correct.

Sample Essay on Favorite Food

Today, there are many delicious foods easily available. I sometime wonder how life was in the ancient past when they did not have ease of access to food as we do today.

However, though I can find food of all kinds in our stores there are foods that stand out as my favorite.

I easily walk past the pizzas, the fluffy pasties, pies, and cream cakes. But when I sit in the restaurant and see the words oxtail stew, with creamed spinach and potatoes I positively drool.

The Waitron places the crispy warm bread rolls beside me on a white plate. In front of me were yellow balls of butter. Next, she placed in front of me a bowl of creamed spinach, dark green finely cut with the white cream and steam coming from it advertising it was freshly cooked. I inhaled the warm aroma unique to spinach. Beside it was a bowl with smooth white mashed potato. Rich creamy smooth and firm from the butter and milk that had been beaten into it to add to its flavor and smooth texture.

Then came the bowl full of oxtail stew. Its rich dark brown color was set off by the white bowl it was in. The gravy was thick and rich. I could smell the aroma of beef, garlic, and herbs and spices drifting up from it into my nose. My mouth watered in anticipation.

Now I took the silver spoon and dipped it into the bowl of potato. It smoothly penetrated the firm fluffy white mound. I lifted the spoon and turned it over on my plate depositing a mound of potato. I repeated this 3 times. Then using another spoon I scooped up spinach dripping white sauce and put it on the plate beside the potato. The dark green Spinach was hot, the white Sauce melted and it contrasted with the creamy potato. Now after a second helping of spinach I took another larger spoon. I dipped it into the rich brown stew and trickled it over the white potato catching the scent of red wine. I scooped up a chunky slice of oxtail.

Several other pieces followed that one onto my plate, the rich brown meat, contrasting with the dark green spinach and creamy white potato. The succulent meat gleaming with a coating of rich gravy and the aroma of gravy, garlic spinach and potato blending in the steam rising from my plate. I scooped up gravy from the bowl and trickled it over the white potato catching the scent of red wine. I broke the roll and spread butter on it and I was ready to eat.

Now the decision where to start, so I bit into the fresh crisp roll and tasted its warm soft texture and the melting butter. By then I had decided to sample the potato with gravy and the spinach. The potato was smooth with a taste of butter over powdered with the tangy gravy, its garlic and hint of good red wine in it. The spinach was a good foil. Smooth with its vegetable texture and plain white sauce it softened the taste of the gravy. Then I used my fork and removed the succulent meat from the bone. Its soft texture, fatty feeling in the mouth, the spice wine and garlic in the gravy made it perfect. So I sat contented at my table eating as much as I could, and more than I should of my favorite food.

Essay 1: Combating the Cult of Thinness

Why would a frightening percentage of American women gladly trade five years off their lives for 10 pounds off their bodies, or prefer to be perceived as thin rather than as kind or intelligent? This obsession with thinness needs to be understood if we are to avoid the consequences, which are often tragic. Beyond this, there are further steps that ought to be taken so that women can have a healthier and more positive sense of themselves.

It is no wonder that American women are obsessed with thinness. From a very young age, it is emphasized to women how important it is to be pretty, and to be pretty by society's standards means being thin. This blatant message is seen everywhere. Not only do images in magazines, TV commercials and billboard posters put an exaggerated emphasis on women's bodies, they also hold up an ideal of thinness that is almost impossible to attain. Computer-enhanced photography employs techniques such as airbrushing blemishes and slenderizing the bodies of models. This adds to the creation of an ideal model that women strive to mimic.

American society's prescription of what it means to be feminine needs a rewrite. Current definitions of femininity are dictated by a social system that gains control over women by defining them primarily in terms of their bodies. In order to see change, women must challenge the industries that feed upon body insecurity. They need to change the messages that women absorb daily. One method would be to stop purchasing the very fashion magazines that have been allowed to define femininity. Large-scale boycotts of these fashion magazines can lead to major change of the feminine ideal.

Another method that can be used to alleviate the emphasis placed on the ideal figure is through education. Women need to realize that the images seen in advertisements and on television sitcoms are not the norm. The average American woman is 5'4", a size 12, and 155 pounds. Women
